

"HOT DOG" - SUCCESS AT HARVARD

Bill Lang (BCom 1985, LLB Hons 1986) is in good company with his award of a Baker Scholarship; previous Australian Baker scholars include the Premier of NSW, Nick Greiner, and the former President of the Business Council of Australia, Sir Roderick Carnegie. The award is made to students finishing in the top 5% of the Master of Business Administration at Harvard University. Bill's introduction to business came with his sale of hotdogs to nightclubbers from a converted ambulance dubbed "Doctor Dog". He has also had his own taxation return service, worked as an analyst for McKinsey and Co and on his return to Australia for National Mutual as manager of Marketing Strategy. One of Bill's partners in "Doctor Dog", Tony Vaccaro (BCom 1988), now runs his own business in Coburg, Vaccaro Business Services.
